

Offshore Billfish & Tuna Tournament Review

Whew! What a year like no other! While COVID took its toll worldwide, our tournament list lost a few and added others. However, big gamefish tournaments are here to stay in a variety of different, exciting and appealing formats.

California

2nd Annual Pelagic Tuna Challenge The Marlin Club San Diego Sept. 10-11, 2021

The Pelagic California Tuna Challenge embraces the fishing culture of Southern California. With a banner season already underway, this tournament offers the chance to target these incredible gamefish with the opportunity to win some serious CASH.

Boats can leave from any marina or launch facility in the greater Southern California area and bring their heaviest tuna to be weighed at the Marlin Club San Diego. This team event awards cash and prizes to the three largest tuna. Optional jackpots are available for tuna and yellowtail with an estimated $100,000 in cash prizes up for grabs. (Note: teams consist of no more than six anglers, one captain, and up to two mates.)

Balboa Angling Club Master Angler Billfish Tournament Sept. 10, 11, 12, 2021

The 2020 Master Anglers 39th Billfish Tournament (MABT) was held on Sept. 11 and 12, 2020 with five local angling clubs participating. Club Secretary Mindy Martin said there were 41 boats, and 172 anglers, yet the results were disappointing. During the two-day event, out of 31 marlin hook-ups, only 10 marlin were released on Friday, and 11 on Saturday, reflecting the lack of striped marlin in SoCal waters.

MABT participated in the IGMR (IGFA Great Marlin Race) in 2020 and since the six pop-up archival tags (PAT) that had been donated were not deployed off Southern California during the event, all six tags were deployed off the Baja/Magdalen Bay area by various participating teams.

Stars & Stripes Los Cabos June 23-26, 2021

A group of 640 participants and their guests attended the four-day event that included live performances by Melissa Etheridge in the Canyon and Ziggy Marley on the sound stage on the beach in front of the host, Hilton Hotel.

Stars and Stripes Gold Sponsor Golfers took to the links at two epic courses on Thursday. Many enjoyed the prestigious Chileno Bay Golf Club and its remarkable amenities while others enjoyed the world-renowned views from the Quivira Golf Club.

On Friday, 128 golfers conquered Palmilla's Ocean and Mountain courses as they competed in a fun scramble format.

Saturday brought the opportunity for 100 golfers to enjoy a scramble competition at the new venue, Rancho San Lucas, designed by Greg Norman. The competition was not the only challenge at this course as there were 30 mph wind gusts as well. However, golfers got relief in the form of cooler Cabo temperatures.

Meanwhile, 54 teams with a total of 215 anglers participated in the 24th Annual Stars and Stripes Charity Tournament held at Chileno Bay. There were a remarkable 158 billfish released along with dorado, yellowfin tuna and wahoo boated during the two-day event.

Bisbee's Black & Blue Marlin Tournament Oct.19 - 23, 2021

2020 Bisbee Black & Blue Award night wrap-up:

The registration was like nothing in the event's 40-year history with masks, social distancing, and other government COVID protocols being followed. Only one member of each team was allowed to enter the registration area to take care of last-minute details, pick up swag, and fishing licenses for the crew if needed, and visit the Bisbee Foundation tables laden with Penn fishing rods, reels, line, and the celebratory Eat Me Lure embedded with the Bisbee 40th anniversary logo.

Throughout the afternoon, more and more teams arrived, and the number of entries continued to grow. By closing time, the unofficial count was a record-breaking 127 teams, the highest number ever in the 40-year history of the event, and the prize money was an astounding $4.6 million.

The 2021 Pescadora Billfish Championship Results

After a year like no other, the Pescadora Billfish Championship presented by Costa Sunglasses was back in full force.

The bite was on at this year's Pescadora Billfish Championship. With 104 female anglers on 26 teams releasing 471 billfish, this two-day competition crowned the world's top female anglers and proved that women represent the largest emerging market in the fishing industry.

An average of 18 billfish were caught per team, with the top teams bringing in more than 40 releases in just two days. These anglers were unstoppable. The first release was just four minutes after lines in. A total of 20 releases were within the first 15 minutes of day one. By the end of that day, every single boat had a release, with many women catching their first sailfish ever.

Costa Offshore World Championship Quepos, Costa Rica April 24-29, 2021

*Less than One Sailfish Release Separated
Top-Three Teams at 2021 Costa
Offshore World Championship*

The Costa Offshore World Championship held April 11-16 once again gathered anglers from many different countries who earned the special invitation by winning one of the qualifying events. The teams spent four days on the water fishing out of Marina Pez Vela aboard a different Costa Rica charter boat, including the world-class Maverick Yachts Game Boats.

The tournament anglers follow IGFA angling and tackle rules targeting marlin, sailfish, tuna, dorado, and wahoo using video verification to earn billfish release points. Game fish must be 25 pounds or more and limited to two per species per day to earn additional team points and awards. The competitors represent an international group of offshore teams competing in a demanding format requiring great angling skills to convert the bites into catches. The Costa Offshore World Championship represents one of the most exclusive titles in tournament fishing.

In 2021, that achievement went to a group of American anglers representing the Presidential Flamingo Fishing Rodeo, Costa Rica, scoring 3500 points with 15 sailfish and one blue marlin released. Anglers Michael Moretti, Dwight Wolf, JP Rodrigues, and Dell Dembosky received championship rings by VanMark Jewelry Designers, Bodo Muche Studio's bronze trophies, Guy Harvey's limited-edition prints, Guy Harvey's championship apparel, Costa's sunglasses, YETI's Rambler Tumblers, Garmin's Quatix Watches, Shimano Reels, Flor de Caña Rum, Big T Lures, AFTCO Tackle, and Soundview Millworks custom cutting boards. The top angler for the tournament was Dell Dembosky, releasing eight sailfish and one blue marlin for the team.

As 2021 Champions, the team can apply for the championship for many years to come.

2021 Presidential Flamingo Fishing Rodeo Marina Flamingo Aug. 7-8, 2021

Flamingo, Costa Rica, is one of sportfishing's most legendary destinations. An idyllic, laid-back beach community located in the Central American nation's northern Pacific local time zone. The World Cup is for one day only - JULY 4 - for one species only, and with one winner only. There is no second place in the World Cup.

The entry fee of $5,000 includes everyone on the boat. The OPTIONAL additional $8,000 BIG BLUE CHALLENGE is for those who want to win an even BIGGER AWARD, (see rule 10 online). In 2020, this division was won with a 667-pound Bermuda blue marlin.

Fish aboard your own boat or charter a professional team in any of the big blue marlin hot spots around the world. If you live in New York, go to Bermuda; if in Australia, charter a boat in Fiji or if in Las Vegas, why not fly to Kona to fish? The World Cup has been won in 10 locations around the world with many more famous blue marlin hot spots not yet producing a winner.

On July 4, make sure your team is ready to win hundreds of thousands of dollars, not to mention bragging rights, for having caught the biggest blue while competing against some of the top sportfishing teams around the globe.

Blue Hunter, a 43 Riviera based in the Cape Verde Islands, boated a grander blue marlin weighing 1,046.1 pounds to win the 2021 World Cup Blue Marlin Championship. Captain Manuel Viana led the team, and it was Viana's second grander of the season. Manuel Rodrigues of Tavira, Portugal, was on the rod. Blue Hunter won $492,000 for the catch. No other qualifying fish were boated during the tournament. Unfortunately, Blue Hunter was not entered into the Big Blue Challenge and no other Big Blue Challenge participant boated a qualifying fish.

Blue Hunter released a marginal fish early in the morning coast, it is a short run to the fishing grounds and brings excellent opportunities for all three species of marlin (blue, black, and striped) as well as sailfish, tuna, wahoo, and dorado (mahi-mahi). Inshore, there are roosterfish, jacks, grouper, and snapper.

Based on this excellent fishing, as well as a desire to get back to the basics with a fun tournament, the Presidential Challenge Charitable Foundation has recently announced the Presidential Flamingo Fishing Rodeo. The event will be held in Flamingo Beach and was scheduled for Aug. 7-8, 2021.

The Blue Marlin World Cup July 4, 2022

No other big game tournament allows a team to fish anywhere in the world for eight hours in their only to report another hook-up shortly before noon. The eventual winner was leaded two dozen times before it was finally gaffed. The blue was so large, accurate measurements couldn't be made since the tail stuck out beyond the transom.

After a two-hour run back to port, the team still had to wait on the official outcome. Since it was Sunday afternoon, it took some time to locate a crane operator to unload the massive catch. The winning blue had a length (lower jaw to fork of the tail) of 142 inches, with a girth of 73 inches.

Hawaii was the top destination in the 2021 event, with 42 boats competing. Bermuda, a typical hot spot for the World Cup, saw only 26 boats offshore due to high winds. The Gulf of Mexico fielded 12 teams, followed by 10 in Madeira, seven in the Bahamas, and three each off North Carolina's Outer Banks and New Jersey, with the balance scattered elsewhere. A total of 123 teams competed in this year's contest overall, which was an excellent turnout considering many weather issues and some remaining Covid restrictions.

Live updates were provided by the tournament every three hours to keep everyone abreast of what was going on. With travel opening up, there were more places to fish than last year during the height of the pandemic. Hawaii, for example, was nearly back to the normal numbers.

The 2nd Annual Swordfish Cup, a tournament with a popular 24-hour format, was to be held July 24-25, 2021. Anglers around the world will be eligible to compete in their respective time zones. This sportfishing contest is being presented by Fly Zone Fishing and RJ Boyle Studio.

"We're excited to announce this new tournament catering to the growing legion of enthusiasts," says Robert "Fly" Navarro, president of Fly Zone Fishing. "We have already heard from multiple teams and I expect to see some hefty entries hoisted to the scales. The popularity of swordfish has exploded in recent years and this tournament is designed to showcase this incredible fishery to the world. We'll be doing live updates every three hours on Facebook and giving away some cool prizes donated by our sponsors for those watching the feeds."

The entry fee for the Swordfish Cup is $1,500 per team. We have added a regional Calcutta of $1,500 and $3,000 with the winner taking 80 percent of the entries for the heaviest fish exceeding the 200-pound minimum weight. All line class weights will be allowed. Calcutta regions will be East Coast (excludes Florida), Florida, East Coast to Key West, Gulf of Mexico,

Caribbean, and others.

Contestants may only use conventional rods and reels, including electric reels mounted on rods. Hand gear, bandit gear, and hydraulic reels are not permitted. Harpoons may be used to boat the fish, however. In the event of a tie, the first eligible fish boated shall be declared the winner.

Weigh-ins will be conducted at approved scales certified by governmental authorities within the last year. Fishing hours will be from 8 a.m. on Saturday, July 25 until 8 a.m. on Sunday, July 26, in each local time zone. Continuous video verification of the gaffing and boating of the fish with a GPS date and time stamp will be required to prove the catch was made during the specified tournament hours. The winning angler and/or team member may also be required to take a poly-graph test to ensure compliance.
